International Conference on Power Systems Transients. Organization: Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (AUTH), Democritus University of Thrace (DUTH) About IPST. This biennial event offers a platform for the exchange of scientific and technical information related to electromagnetic transients in electric power systems.

B. Power System Modeling Power system modeling can also be simplified when investigating only overcurrent effects on the relay protection system operation. Parameters for the fault simulations can include load currents, symmetric fault currents, source impedance, and power system time constant (or X/R) at the substation.

IPST Conference is a biennial event, offering a meeting place for experts and a platform for the exchange of scientific and technical information related to electromagnetic transients in electric power systems. Thessaloniki is the second-largest city in Greece, the capital of the Macedonia region.
