I'm a Nikon enthusiast for a long time, I have a D3x that I use regularly. I also have a number of older D1, D1x & D1h. I think they are nice cameras that take nice pictures, but the batteries are lousy in every way. I have been thinking for a long time about developing a battery holder for Lithium batteries (18650).

Plus the battery pictured doesn't remotely resemble the EN-4. There are too many inconsistencies in the posting. So I won't be taking a chance on it. But if you do, and it does fit the D1x, let me know. I'd love to have an alternative to my 6 spare battery "solution" for shooting with my D1x. Thanks. Gordon

I put the battery in the camera and the viewfinder showed "full battery", I went into my garden and have so far fired off 300 random shots, the viewfinder still shows full battery!! I ...

Compatible replacement battery vs. OEM originals: Our Digital Cameras batteries are always lower in price and will meet or exceed the performance of the original Nikon D1X Digital Camera battery. Batteries can sometimes even contain identical battery cells as the OEM original did, but lacking the brand name, can be offered at a discount prices.

It is time for a new set of batteries for my trusty D1X. My previous batteries were from Battery Barn, same specs as the original batteries. Battery Barn does not carry Ni-MH batteries rated at 7.2 V and 2200 mAh. I am saying this because I am suspecting, from the use of a previous battery with...
